Relationships

Definition of a relationship for benefit purposes

Whether people are single or a couple affects eligibility for certain income assistance and the rate at which we can pay that assistance.

When we work out your entitlement to income assistance, we'll consider you to be in a relationship if you're married, in a civil union, or in a de facto relationship, and have a degree of companionship.

By degree of companionship, we mean two people:

- are committed to each other emotionally for the foreseeable future, and
- are financially interdependent.

To give you a better idea of what we mean by this, think about whether your relationship includes some of the things below:

- you live together at the same address most of the time
- you share responsibilities, for example bringing up children (if any)
- you socialise and holiday together
- you share money, bank accounts or credit cards
- you share household bills
- you have a sexual relationship
- people think of you as a couple
- you give each other emotional support and companionship.

HOW TO ANSWER Q12:

Tick this statement to confirm you understand the definition of a relationship for benefit purposes.

If you don't understand what we mean by a relationship please leave this blank until you talk with your Youth Service provider.
